

Junior Instructors, Junior Aquarists, & Internships

The Junior Instructor position is an opportunity to gain experience teaching and supervising young students while learning and having fun in the ocean environment. Each day, Junior Instructors will assist our Marine Science staff, Adventure Sports staff or Sailing staff in all aspects of the program. We are looking for mature youth and young adults, ages 15 and up, with a contagious energy and excellent team leadership skills. Applicants must be motivated, must be able to work within a team as well as individually, and must have a passion to work with children. The programs may include physically demanding work, such as kayaking, snorkeling, body boarding and some heavy lifting. Junior Instructors are strongly encouraged to have their own lifejacket, wetsuit, snorkeling gear and sailing gear but some NESS gear may be available. Please call to inquire.

The Junior Aquarist position is an opportunity to create thriving saltwater aquarium systems, maintain water quality and care for local marine invertebrates and vertebrates for educational programs. Duties include: collecting critters, daily feedings, cleaning tanks, and creating displays specific to tanks. Applicant must be passionate about marine science, ocean stewardship and local critters.

If interested in a Junior Instructor Marine Science/Adventure Sports or Junior Aquarist position, please send the application form via mail or email to NESS Senior Educator, Caleb Rose crose@nessf.org. If interested in a Junior Instructor Sailing position, please send the application form via mail or email to Mark Zagol sailing@nessf.org. Application form can be found on our website at <http://www.nessf.org/work-with-ness/internship-opportunities>
